1. Distinguish between forensic and legal psychology and give examples of each.

2. Define stare decisis.

3. What area in psychology is forensic psychology a subspecialty?

4. What are the four applied areas of psychology?

5. What is the difference between clinical and counseling psychology?

6. Be able to give examples of forensic evaluations and distinguish between criminal and civil evaluations.

7. What is the most common forensic criminal evaluation?

8. Define board certification and describe what a vanity board is and the notion of a grandparenting clause for membership.

9. What does the textbook recommend regarding a specialized degree in forensic psychology?

10. Distinguish between a master's degree and a doctorate degree in psychology regarding both professional practice and oversight by the APA.

11. Describe the training required for a doctorate degree and licensure as a forensic psychologist.

12. Define cognitive psychology, developmental psychology and social psychology and the roles these professions play in legal and forensic psychology.

13. What is a change of venue request and why would such a request be made?

15. Where do most psychologists receive their training is forensic psychology?